CLOSE - UP MAGIC / ROVING MAGIC

James Sleight is also a master of close up sleight of hand magic and holds several national awards for his close up magic and comedy. It just does not seem possible that James can create the most amazing effects just inches away and sometimes in your own hands and yet you still have no idea how he does it. The effect on your audience as James moves around the room creating little pools of excitement and laughter is wonderful to watch. Often you will see others craning their necks or calling James over to their group so they can join in the fun. For the ultimate evening of magical entertainment we suggest you have James move around the room earlier in the evening to dazzle your guests at close quarters and then have the stage show later in the night. This not only allows everyone to get to know James a bit before the show but also gives your guests a completely different and personal magic experience. James can also be booked by the hour to perform walk-around or table hopping close up at your event.
