

Ian From The Hills

Our next guest could be described as someone who works very closely with the legal profession - he assists police with their enquiries.

But he prefers to describe himself as a "herbal horticulturalist" and is both an expert and connoisseur of the world's leading brands of bourbon.

A cultural philosopher of great standing, he can often be seen espousing his views about life from the front bar of the Parkerville Tavern.

His rusty ute with the yellow sticker and no rego has just pulled up, so welcome him now - Ian from the Hills!
